Police are investigating a report filed by a 15-year-old girl who said she was forced into prostitution and held against her will beginning at 2 a.m. Monday in Waikiki.

The girl described the man who forced her into the activity, and who she said also sexually assaulted her in a room at an unknown hotel, as a "pimp" who appeared to be in his 30s. No arrests had been made in the case, which was classified as a first-degree sexual assault, had been made as of this morning
